

O R, D O G S

MOST STUPENDOUS and ASTONISHING GRAND EXHIBITION.

AT the MILITARY ACADEMY ROOM, Exeter 'Change, Strand,
This present Evening, and To-morrow Evening, he Knowledge and Sagacity of these Animals, will be fully displayed by a Number of them, which compose a

THEATRICAL COMIC COMPANY,
Under the immediate and sole Direction of LE SIEUR SCAGLIONI, their Instructor and Master.

This Troop of Dogs may properly be called a new Colony of the Canine Species, as they give full Scope to their Knowledge and Sagacity, by the Exercise of their respective Learnings, and this in a Manner hitherto unknown in this or any other Country.

Such truly unparalleled Exhibition is as much amusing as it is of Utility; for on inspecting over this Colony of the Animal Kind, different Trades present in View, which appear no less extraordinary in these Animals, than common in Men! and indeed, what can be more curious and astonishing, than to see Dogs spin and wind Thread, Silk, &c. What more prodigious and wonderful, than to see these Dogs instruct Canary-birds to sing, others to perform the Function of Chairmen, by carrying Wheelbarrows, &c. with the most pointed Exactitude and Diligence; whilst others act as Publicans, Knife Grinders, &c? Even Instructions in the Art de Manege are deeply inculcated in them; and one of them performs Equilibriums, the most difficult and surprizing, walking or trotting upon two Legs of the same Side, while he holds up straight the other opposite two, quickly changing the Posture of Legs at the Pleasure and Command of his Master. They are all dressed in their respective Characters. During the Intervals of these various Exercises, a Representation of

The D E S E R T E R,

By one of these Dogs, will be given, supported equally to any Man in that Character. To conclude by a grand Manœuvre of all these Animals giving a general Assault to a Cattle, which, with the Antecedent, must induce every candid and impartial Spectator to say, that to give the above, NE PLUS ULTRA, to this Entertainment, which of the Kind was never seen before, and cannot be surpassed, is not a vain Boast, but what justly belongs to it.

Between the Vcts, two Italian Young Ladies will sing AIRS, DUETS, &c. accompanied by an excellent Buffo Caricato, and a Mechanical Figure will exhibit the most difficult Attitudes, Equilibriums, &c. &c. in Imitation of Human Nature. The Whole will be accompanied by a good Band of Music.

This Exhibition has met with the most flattering Marks of Approbation, bestowed on it by the Prince of Orange, King of Prussia, Emperor of Germany, and recently by their Majesties, the King and Queen of France.

Doors to be opened at Half past Six, to begin at Half past Seven o'Clock precisely.
Admittance Front Seats 3s. Back Seats 2s. The Room is kept warm.

1784?

ESTC

50 Factory No. 18 March 1984

† 154793